“Mr. Sedlacek was the "Professor Kingsfield" to many of his students in the Electronics Engineering Technology department at UNO. He challenged all of his students to meet his high standards, and made many of us better in the end. I had great respect for the man who impacted so many students in his classes and EET department. I don't think they make professors like him anymore. I will always remember what he did for me pushing me to be a better student in his EET department.”

“Charles was a big influence in my life and I owe much of my professional success and success in life as a whole to his mentoring. It truly saddens me that he has passed. I first met Professor Sedlacek at a career event at Omaha South High back in 1973. He was doing a pitch for the EET program at UNO. While in college we struck up a strong bond that extended outside the classroom - the love of riding dirt bikes. About a dozen of us joined Charles' Off Road Explorer Post (a first in Omaha) and we traveled to several states for riding and other Explorer events. Charles may never have known, that while he had no children of his own, we were his "kids." He positively influence so many. He was a very good person and he will be missed.”
